LANGUAGES

German · English

Based in Berlin, Simon Ødriksen is fascinated by the art of filmmaking in all its forms. From genre classics to cinematic milestones, he loves exploring storytelling through images, experimenting with film techniques, and pushing creative boundaries - whether that's through traditional craft or emerging tools like AI. Simon is passionate about discovering how visual language shapes emotion and imagination, always seeking inspiration in both cinema and art.

LOST FILM VISIONS is a personal art project through which Simon indulges his cinephile instincts, exploring fragments of imagined films, forgotten genres, and cinematic moods. More at lostfilmvisions.com.
